

Our mission:

Our primary aim is to assist children who typically don't have access to public education resources, mostly because of poverty. Also, these children only have limited access to food, shelter, safety, and health. Regardless of caste, creed, gender, race, or social position, our goal is to provide each child with a quality education that focuses on their physical, mental, emotional, social, and cognitive development. Nutrition also helps them to grow healthy and strong, which plays a crucial role in their development, which is also one of our major motives as no child should suffer from hunger. Each child receives life preparation, not just academic preparation. Our goal is to create a society where every child has the opportunity to exercise their rights to survival, safety, and participation.

Secondly, we aim to empower the women and young generation of girls in our society who, in general, cannot afford to maintain a minimum living standard due to the persistent issue of poverty by providing them with skills that will enable them to earn a living, support their family and maintain a higher standard of living with their heads held high.
